Manuscript Acceptance Email

- Please click the link in your acceptance email for ACS AuthorChoice open access enrollment options.

Dear Dr. Fraser,

Congratulations on your accepted manuscript in Journal of Agricultural and Food Chemistry.

Publishing open access allows you to increase the visibility and impact of your published work and can help you meet funder mandates. Before your article goes into production, we would like to let you know about open access licensing options offered by ACS. Click here if you are interested in our Open Access Options or to complete your order for open access.

If you have questions as to what your funding agency requires, please visit ACSFunderOptions.

Please note you may also self-deposit your accepted manuscript for availability 12 months after publication to your funder repository with no required fee. A PDF version of your accepted manuscript is readily available within ACS Paragon Plus for you to submit to your funder repository.

If you need additional assistance, contact support@services.acs.org.

Thank you for choosing ACS Publications as your partner.
